Breakout Session Descriptions

Navigating SOAP: From Uncertainty to Opportunity

This session will explore best practices for managing and navigating the NRMP Supplemental Offer and Acceptance Program (SOAP) using a structured, team-based approach. As more Family Medicine residencies face unfilled positions each year, SOAP has become a critical component of recruitment strategy. We will highlight effective pre-SOAP preparation, coordinated team workflows for efficient application review, streamlined interview techniques, and development of an abridged scoring system. Attendees will gain practical tools and strategies to prepare for SOAP, approach the process with confidence, and strengthen their overall recruitment efforts.

- Speaker(s): Jenna Moore, Manager, Family Medicine Residency, The Reading Hospital, Jenna.Moore@towerhealth.org; Alyssa Bedison, Medical Education Program Sr. Department Manager, UPMC Rural Family Medicine Residency

ACGME Site Visit Success: Tips from a Single-Program Institution Administrator

Preparing for an ACGME site visit as an administrator at a single-program institution requires confidence, clarity, and consistency. This session highlights strategies to demonstrate compliance, showcase a supportive educational environment, and convey institutional support. Emphasis will be placed on ensuring stakeholders understand reporting structures, communication pathways, and where to access key policies and program information. Attendees will learn how to present their program authentically, showing not perfection, but a well-functioning system grounded in accountability, accessibility, and continuous improvement.

- Speaker(s): Nik Chaudhary, Institutional & Residency Program Coordinator, Lowell Community Health Center, kunnikch@lchealth.org

The Faculty GPS: Navigating Who's Where at All Times

This session will go over how my program builds and utilizes our faculty matrix for each block to know where our faculty are at all times. Attendees will learn how to use the template provided to track faculty, have a quick reference when someone has a question about precepting, time off, or clinic sessions, and build comfort and confidence in always knowing where your faculty are.

- Speaker(s): Kiersten Greever, Program Manager, Meritus Family Medicine Residency Program, kiersten.greever@meritushealth.com
